change a retail merchant who has Bell telephone service MEN an always-open door. In stormy weather and in sunshine the telephone provides a means of receiving orders.

Then, there is the convenience of it to the retail merchant in placing rush orders with the wholesale house.

Lastly, the telephone in a retail store gives that store a certain prestige over the stores without telephone service.

Have you Bell telephone service in your store?

Few Laborers.

"The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few."

Instances where there is no work to do are exceedingly rare. The present generation is not familiar with anything of the kind. Upon every hand there are tasks awaiting performance. The man who confesses inability to find work makes confession of a fault which lies within himself. There has not been a harvest time within the memory of any one living when there was not a crying demand for harvest hands. More than one field of grain has been imperiled because there were no reapers to gather the harvest.

It was doubtless so upon the plains of Galilee. The Great Teacher was accustomed to point a moral from the most concrete and the most familiar things about Him. The falling sparrow, the blade of grass, the barren fig-tree, the red clouds at evening, were all fraught with practical suggestions. Thus it was that—

"When he saw the multitudes, he was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted, and were scattered abroad as sheep having no shepherd."

"Then saith He unto his disciples, The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few."

Were the same Divine Teacher to appear upon earth now and scan the fields of practical Christian endeavor there is reason to believe that he would not utter a similar observation.

Indeed, there is ample reason to believe that he would express the same sentiment, possibly with greater emphasis and elaboration in view of the fact that so little has been accomplished. No one does all that he can do. Supposing every man and woman of average intelligence and capability should be suddenly seized with the conviction that they have been grossly neglected in the past and would determine from henceforth that no opportunity for doing the right thing at the right time would be overlooked.

What a gathering in the world's harvest fields there would be. What a disappearing of clouds and outbursts of sunshine. What a feeding and clothing of the poor. What an outpouring of money in practical philanthropy. What a disseminating of the gospel to glad tidings into the uttermost parts of the earth.

Such an awakening may not come in our day. But it will come. A day will dawn when the ripened grain will all be garnered; when the long waiting tasks will be performed, and when the sad tremulo of earthly woe will be lost in the glad song which the reapers sing—Harvest Home.

It is hard to imagine a young couple who begin life without acquaintances, but the fact exists. A young man marries a young girl, and they go away, leave their young friends and associates whom they have known from childhood, to try their fortune in a strange land. How should they begin? Begin what? The new life upon which they have just entered. They are to help one another. Very much of the happiness and success of the home, and I may say the business of the young husband depends upon the young wife. I would say to her: "Learn to keep house that you may keep home." Here is woman's sphere. But alas! How few realize the position they occupy, the example they set; the taking of a glass of wine or the refusal of it may mark the destiny of a fellow creature. I would say to the young wife: first, make home attractive. How? See that the house is in perfect order and everything in its place. The table, however plain, should be extremely neat, and above all I should charge her to keep within her husband's means. Do not be extravagant. There is nothing that drives a man to destruction sooner than an extravagant wife and bills that he is not able to pay. All this tends to make home happy and attractive. When towards the setting sun, his working day done, he turns his feet homeward, see to it that there is no spot on earth dearer to him than home. It is in our power to keep him there or drive him away.

Palace walls are not as precious as the home the heart has made. And the lowly roof may shelter souls whose greatness ne'er shall fade.

Don't.

Don't marry the old folks or let them marry you.

Don't marry one in whom you have not perfect confidence.

Don't marry much above or below your social sphere.

Don't forget that mutual forbearance is the touchstone of domestic happiness.

Don't marry unless you love and do not love unless guarded by reason and judgment.

Don't expect that love will come after marriage where it does not exist before marriage, for all experience proves it will not.

Don't marry for beauty alone, for it may perish in a single night, and, unless accompanied by loveliness of spirit, it is only a mantle of vanity, selfishness and ill temper.

MARRIED.

The newspapers have given several accounts of the way in which Washington's birthday was celebrated at different places, but the most appropriate one so far is contained in a letter received from Sovereign, W. Va., the day being celebrated by the marriage of Miss Ella B. Lowe and James E. Powellson. The bride is a niece of Mrs. Albert Murray and the groom is a Pennsylvanian and has a good position at the Sovereign mines. May their matrimonial ship float peacefully and happily down the stream of life.

WEST VIRGINIA NEIGHBORS.

C. L. Bennett, aged 40, C. & O. section foreman of near Hinton, committed suicide by lighting a stick of dynamite and then laying down upon it.

Perfumery, toilet preparations and flavoring extracts come under the ban in West Virginia when the state goes dry on July 1st. Under a ruling of the tax commissioner grocers and druggists are warned not to sell any preparations containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol without first insuring themselves that the purchaser does not intend to use it as a beverage.

Reports have reached this city that the people of Williamson, who have been working so hard toward that end, have been assured of the new passenger train they so greatly desire. It was reported that an extra passenger train will leave Welch westward at 7 o'clock in the morning, and another will leave Kenova at 11 o'clock a. m. Railway officials at Bluefield have had no notice of the new trains.

Huntington, Feb. 28.—Miss Letha Perdue, the Wayne county girl, who was recently given a small fine for the killing of James Kendrick, a Huntington fireman, has become the bride of Morgan Perdue, N. & W. brakeman, surprising their friends by a runaway marriage. They will probably make their home in Ceredo. Letha Perdue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Perdue, who live on a farm back of Ceredo. A sensation was caused by the killing of Kendrick who was the husband of Letha Perdue's sister, who had died. For some years the Perdue family had kept the child born to the union, Letha Perdue having been the child's nurse. When Kendrick was married to a nurse he went back to the Perdue home to get the child. He was met by Letha Perdue, who swore on the witness stand that she was in love with Kendrick, that he had wronged her and promised that he would become her husband. The shooting then occurred, Kendrick dying almost instantly. Arraigned before the Wayne circuit Court, the girl pleaded emotional insanity and was virtually freed, being found guilty of involuntary manslaughter. The court fixed a fine as the penalty.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework.

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.

IF CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK

Look Mother! If tongue is coated, cleanse little bowels with "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative, and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.
